LIFE TERMER RIDES ABROAD?

Another Amazing Story of Alleged Liberties Comes From State's Prison at Florence to a Democratic Newspaper in Phoenix

Following the story of an alleged strike by the convicts in the Florence penitentiary printed in The Republican yesterday morning in which it was said, according to a report from the prison town, that the "unfortunates" had met and "resolved" what they would and would not do in relation to the building of a sewer, comes the following story of another alleged occurrence at this most amazing institution, printed in the Arizona Democrat last evening:

(Special to Democrat.)
FLORENCE, Ariz., May 13.—Louis V. Eyttinge, murderer of John Licht, and life-terminer in the Arizona penitentiary, was seen on the streets of this city, last Tuesday, taking for a buggy ride Miss Kate Bernard, who is said to be the head of the correction department in the state of Oklahoma. Eyttinge was dressed in citizen's clothes, and taking his companion to a local ice cream parlor, did the honors in a manner that would credit to an Arizona citizen, who had not brutally murdered an invalid for his money and valuables. Miss Bernard occupied a seat in the buggy while Eyttinge, the murderer, went into the ice cream place and brought her out a cooling drink. He talked interestingly and charmingly to his companion while they enjoyed the ice cream. Finishing their refreshments they continued to ride about the city. While serving his term for murder, Eyttinge has made several hundred dollars by the sale of articles manufactured by the prisoners.

That Miss Bernard has taken a decided fancy to the murderer serving a life term is generally conceded among those who have been watching her efforts to uplift the "unfortunates" in the state prison. Her acceptance to him as an escort indicates that she has no objection to meeting a murderer on common ground, during which she makes of him an equal in spite of the crime he committed.

All Arizona rang, just a few years ago, with the murder committed by Eyttinge. He induced John Licht, with whom he had been rooming, to take an outing north of the Arizona canal, near Phoenix. While there Eyttinge chloroformed his victim and left him to die. Coming into Phoenix, Eyttinge cashed checks belonging to Licht, and fled the city. A week later Licht's body was found in the brush north of the canal.

Then began the search for Eyttinge, which proved fruitless until in a spirit of bravado he wrote a letter to W. J. Spear of Phoenix, in which he boasted of his ability to elude the officers of Arizona. His murderous vanity proved his undoing and the sheriff's office caught him in southern California. He was brought back to Phoenix, tried and convicted.

That Eyttinge deliberately coaxed his victim to a lonely spot to murder him for checks and valuables, was the theory of the prosecution. Eyttinge claimed that Licht committed suicide, but Eyttinge's flight, his cashing of Licht's checks by forging the latter's name and his previous prison record damned him in the eyes of a fair and impartial jury.

While detained in the Phoenix jail, awaiting his trial for murder, Eyttinge boasted about his ability as a forger. He served time in the Columbus, Ohio, penitentiary, for cashing bogus checks. In spite of the gravity of the murder charge, Eyttinge's vanity courted notoriety. This was generally taken as one of the most disgusting features of the brutal affair. Since reaching the penitentiary he has never lost an opportunity to get before the public eye.

Local people looked for Eyttinge as the last of the inmates to be made an "honorary" guest of the state penitentiary. His outing with Kate Bernard, who has been taking her meals at the penitentiary, and sleeping there, at the expense of the state, for nearly a month, has caused much indignation among both the friends and foes of prison reform here.

GREATEST SPECIAL TRAINS.

When the eastern delegates to the thirty-fifth annual convention of the National Electric Light association board their special trains for the convention, early in June, they will be whirled across the continent in the fastest and most luxurious trains ever inaugurated in railroad travel. In magnificence of equipment and novelty of features, and in convenience for the comfort of the delegates, the Seattle N. E. L. A. convention train, in several sections, will represent the highest expression of luxurious railroad travel.

The National Electric Light association, with its ten thousand members, representing an industry with an investment of over 2,000,000,000, will convene in Seattle, June 10 to 14. This is the foremost electrical organization in the country and it has always been of the greatest public benefit in developing things electrical for the public welfare. It has accomplished much in decreasing the cost of electricity for light, power and heating purposes and has been of material assistance in developing and improving electric lights, electric motors for all kinds of work and heating and cooking devices for the household.

The Seattle convention will be of the greatest importance to the country at large. It will mark another step forward in electrical progress. The transportation committee, mindful that it is a long ride from the eastern states to the Pacific coast, has arranged a "tour de luxe" which will include all the points of scenic grandeur in the country, including the Grand Canyon, the Yellowstone Park, Southern California and the great Northwest.

For the convenience of visiting delegates the following special tours have been arranged for:

Train No. 1, known as the Red Special, will leave New York Sunday, May 26th, for Seattle and return, visiting en route: Going—Grand Canyon of Arizona, Riverside, Pasadena, Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, Del Monte, San Francisco and Shasta Route to Seattle. Returning—visiting Portland, Yellowstone National Park, Salt Lake City, Glenwood Springs, Colorado Rockies, Colorado Springs and Denver.

The Blue Special will leave Boston on the same day, going over practically the same route.

The Pink Special will leave New York June 2nd, visiting Banff Hot Springs, Lake Louise, through the Canadian Rockies to the Glacier and Fraser Canyon to Vancouver, thence by steamer to Victoria and to Seattle.

The Green Special will leave Chicago June 4th over the same interesting route.

The Orange Special, leaving Chicago June 6th, over the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul will arrive in Seattle on the 9th, via the Puget Sound railroad.

The Purple Special will start from St. Louis on the 5th, over the Wabash and the Great Northern.

Cartoonists certainly have imagination! Think of one picturing soft-fraughted heaving bricks into fourth-story windows.

FAT AND TISSUE BONE AND SINEW

Friday to Be Some Gala Day in Elksdom; 2100 Pounds of Fat Vs. 900 Pounds of Lean; Stand Back, Officer

That the Elks' baseball game, despite the disparity in avoirdupois and physique which the Fat and Lean contestants evidence, will be a battle royal of brain and brawn, a real test of supremacy and not a burlesque, is made more apparent as the fatal day draws near.

There is every assurance that on Friday at 4 p. m. when nine men aggregating 2,100 pounds of fat and tissue meet nine other men aggregating 900 pounds of bone and sinew, the issue will be in doubt until the last man is put out in the last inning of course there will be all sorts of foreboding and what-not from the 900-odd Elks present in all kinds of paraphernalia, but the game itself will be the goods.

Leecraft, Simpson, Moyle, Pickett, Callaghan, Brady, Reeves, Riggs, Geary, Owens, Ingels, Gatter and the forty-odd members from whom the two teams are to be recruited, all have played ball in their day and many of them still insist they are far from the "hus been" class.

Friday will be some gala day in honor of the event. Merchants will close their shops for the afternoon. Legislators will conveniently resurrect dear departed grandmas to be drizzled a la Moree via an Easterling route. The Indian band will make lots of music and 600 Elks and their supporters will Mardi-Gras it for an hour or two all over Phoenix. They will out-dress the big show and cavort and make monkey-shines all afternoon throughout the progress of the game. Pretty girls will distribute programs and there will be ample refreshment for the thirsty.

Altogether Elks' baseball day as Friday is to be known will certainly be a hummer. Better get your ticket reservations early for there will be a tremendous crowd.
